

Keyboard Shortcuts

- CTRL + u = diagram cleanup
- Right Click = palette
- CTRL + Space = quick search
- CTRL + e = switch window (from block diagram to front panel, and vice versa)
- CTRL + Shift + e = activate project window
- CTRL + r = Run
- CTRL + t = split window
- Win + Left/Right = move current window to corresponding side of current monitor
- Win + Shift + Left/Right = move current window to corresponding monitor
- Alt + F4 = close current window – if it is the front panel of a vi, the block diagram will close too, also closing the project window closes all vi's from that project
- Alt + Esc = minimize current window
- Windows + m = Windows + d = minimize all
- Windows + Tab = show all active windows (keep holding windows and tabbing to select one)
- Alt + Tab = Activate window next to top (current window is top) (hold tab to see a small menu, tab to select then release alt)
- Windows + # = activate appropriate window (where # is the number of the window in the order on the taskbar)
- Print Screen (or other abbreviation) = copy current image of computer which can then be pasted
- Alt + Print Screen = copy image of current window which can then be pasted
- Other Windows shortcuts at http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Table\_of\_keyboard\_shortcuts
- Other LabVIEW shortcuts at http://zone.ni.com/reference/en-XX/help/371361J-01/lvhowto/keyboard\_shortcuts/

Backups are your friend, so do them and do them often

You might consider using a Version Control Management suite – see additional resources

Forums are generally usefull

- Chief Delphi – <http://www.chiefdelphi.com/forums/index.php?> - just subscribe to this* one, it is by teams for teams and usually really good.
- LabVIEW Forum - <http://forums.ni.com/t5/LabVIEW/bd-p/170> - often helpful with LabVIEW in general

*Obviously sign up so you can post, but also use google alerts to be notified when there is a new post on something that interests you – use something like “site:<http://www.chiefdelphi.com/forums/>programming” for your search term